Bio

Self-taught, from 12 years old, learning his chops from legendary rock bands, Led Zeppelin, Rush and Deep Purple. Aged 16 he joined his first covers rock band, then progressing on to original bands, including The 'Figgy Fox Banned' as featured on the BBC2's 'Present Imperfect'. The TV show used one of their songs, that he composed, as the theme music to the programme. The song also reached No 1 in the UK. Demo chart.

He was awarded certification from the UK Song writing contest, ahead of 6,200 other entries, judged by The BRIT Trust, The Guild of International Songwriters & Composers, The World Music Foundation and the International Song Copyright Agency.

In 2013 he signed a publishing contract with a major USA music publisher. Alongside his songwriting, studio and live work, he now seeks to write for film, with a special admiration for film score legends Jerry Goldsmith and Ennio Morricone.

He also plays the role of 'Jimmy Page' in the some of the UK's best Led Zeppelin tribute acts.
